Hedge Connection Registers 100th Hedge Fund Member

- New service helps hedge funds meet investors

New York, NY, April 18, 2006 -- Hedge Connection Inc. ("Hedge Connection"), the first web-based investor introduction service, today announces that it has achieved an important milestone with the registration of its 100th hedge fund member.

Lisa Vioni, the founder and President of Hedge Connection said, "We are pleased to welcome our 100th hedge fund member to Hedge Connection. Hedge Connection is the only service available that provides hedge fund managers direct access to investors. Our 500+ investor members and 100 hedge fund members are using our platform to source ideas and build relationships. Hedge funds representing all strategies and sizes have joined recognizing the value of our service."

Launched in October of 2005, Hedge Connection serves the needs of hedge funds looking to meet investors and qualified investors looking for hedge fund investments. Hedge Funds pay a low annual membership fee to join Hedge Connection while qualified investors join for free. An industry first, all investor members have agreed to be contacted by hedge funds that are members of Hedge Connection. Hedge Connection is not a broker dealer and does not charge incentive fees or back-end commissions on any money raised.

Commenting on the news, Brad Schwartz, COO of Vectors Research Management LLC, an early Hedge Connection member said, "We recognized early on the value of Hedge Connection. As a new Investment Advisor that specializes in mortgage and asset-backed securities, Hedge Connection was an efficient tool to help identify prospective investors interested in our strategy. Lisa's background in institutional sales and hedge fund marketing is a definite positive as she understands the challenges of raising assets."
